

Gabriel Suarez: https://github.com/gabesuarez117/SUAREZ_CPSC_4310_01

Sophia Luehmann: <https://github.com/sophieluehmann/ME7>

Summary:

In our exploration with neural networks we learned how it is important to try multiple different values for the Alpha parameter in order to see which will yield the best scores on the test data. Additionally, when we tried to get our non-normalized data to plot on the fruit dataset we had a little trouble and did some research and found that we had to access the data using `iloc`, since the index data was not sorted.